County Treasurer Rice Reported Balance of $694,227.40 to Supervisors at End of Year October 31—Other Business.

Thursday evening prior to the session of the board of supervisors a special session of the board as a board of county canvassers was held for the tabulation of election returns and not been completed and no report was made. This report of the canvass at the past general election cannot be made until after the tabulation of voting machines which failed to register certain votes in the city. Such an examination and re-canvass of the vote will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Municipal building. At that time the machines will be produced and examined and a re-canvass made in the presence of a committee from the board of supervisors, the inspectors of election in the districts where the machines failed to register and the Republican and Democratic chairmen of the County Central Committee. A recess was taken by the board of canvassers until Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock.

The board of supervisors was then called into session by Chairman Elsworth of Keopps. Thirty-one members were present and after Supervisor DuBois moved that the reading of the minutes of the previous session be dispensed with the regular business of the evening was taken up.

Hindenburg Takes German Domestic Crisis In His Hands

Berlin, Nov. 18 (AP).—The full weight of Germany's domestic crisis fell upon the aged President Von Hindenburg today as he set out grimly to attain his cherished ideal of a national concentrated government tolerated, at least, by the deadlocked Reichstag.

The president started alone on the difficult road he has chartered for himself as a result of the resignation of the Junker cabinet of Franz Von Papen. That government stepped aside yesterday after two elections had failed to give it a working hold on the Reichstag.

Only the president's secretary was called to accompany the president at conferences with various party leaders—each in private.

Selected for these talks today were Alfred Hugenburg, the Nationalist party leader; Eduard Dingeldey, the German people's (Popular) party chief; and Dr. Ludwig Kaas, acting for the Catholic Center party.

Tomorrow the chief executive will see Adolf Hitler, leader of the most powerful single group in the Reichstag, the National Socialists, and Dr. Schaefer of the Bavarian people's party.

The Socialists were not invited because of their brazen refusal to meet the resigning Chancellor Von Papen Tuesday. Nothing was said, either, of the Communists.

THREE HUNTERS BELIEVED DROWNED IN BOG RIVER

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—Search for three hunters, believed drowned in the Bog River section of the Adirondacks, was begun today by patrol of state troopers from Long Lake and this village.

The missing men are Frank Rindor, former Saranac Lake resident; Charles Fischer, a guide, and John Jones of Syracuse. It is feared they were drowned by the overturning of a launch in First Pond, in the Augustus Low estate.

"HUNGER MARCHERS" SAW GOV. ROOSEVELT

National Meeting On Welfare Work

Mrs. Barnard Joy of the Kingston Junior League has recently returned from the National Junior League Conference on Social and Baby Welfare Work held at the Hotel Statler. Mrs. Joy represented the Kingston Junior League having been appointed delegate by Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton, president, and Mrs. Robert R. Rodie, chairman of the Baby Welfare Committee. Mrs. Joy's report on this convention shows that the leading Welfare and Social workers of the country consider this work to be of the utmost importance to every city and community.

More than 500 members and guests of the Association of Junior Leagues of America attended this five day conference where they were addressed by such prominent authorities as Edward Linderman, sociologist of the New York School of Social Work; Roy Cushman of the Boston Council of Social Agencies; Dr. C. E. Hutton of the School of Medicine, Yale University; Dr. Estelle Warner of the U. S. Public Health Service; Miss Eleanor Neustadter, chief of Social Service, psychiatric Clinic, New York Hospital, and others. In addition several group meetings were held to discuss the best methods of adapting this work to the individual community to be served.

This is the type of work which has been carried on for the past 10 years by the Kingston Junior League, during the past few at their Meadow Street Clinic, and is of vital importance to every citizen of Kingston because of its relation to public health as a whole. This was aptly expressed by Dr. Warner of the U. S. Public Health Service in closing her address when she said, "In no single thing can man approach God more nearly than in giving safety to mankind."

The "Junior League Revue," to be presented at the Broadway Theatre Wednesday, December 21, is for the support of this work exclusively. A play by local people, for local people, for a local charity.

LAKE KATRINE HOME BUREAU BUSINESS MEETING

Lake Katrine, Nov. 18.—The second business meeting of the Lake Katrine Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. Carl Wille, with 21 members and one visitor present.

The chairman, Mrs. Dederick, called the meeting to order. The meeting today in Kingston will be repeated November 21 at Mrs. Fonda's by Mrs. Munson, assisted by Mrs. A. Roosa.

The chairman called attention to the meeting December 1 in Kingston. Topic, "Winter Bouquets."

A supper will be held December 3 at Mrs. Lachman's. After supper cards will be played. Many of the members have finished the garments given out by Miss Nance at the meeting of November 7.

After the meeting Mrs. Wille had a great treat in store for the members, an exhibition of dolls from all countries of the world, 28 in number. The dolls were dressed in elaborate costumes and the features and forms were exact reproductions of the country from which they came.

Delicious refreshments of home-made cookies and tea were served.

JUDGE CLEARWATER EXPLAINS WEINBERG

The Freeman repeatedly having been asked as to the meaning of the name "Weinberg" attached to what is now West Chestnut street, referred the matter to Judge Clearwater, the city historian, who said that when Kingston originally was settled by the Dutch, the entire region of West Chestnut street including Montrose cemetery, was covered with wild grape vines. The old Dutch housewives gathered these grapes, put them up for preserves, and made wine of them. Weinberg is the Dutch for Wine Hill (Wijnberg).

The judge added that in his boyhood, wild grapes flourished among the trees of Montrose cemetery and the scholars of Kingston Academy occasionally played hooky to gather them; also pokeberries grew on the hill with the juice of which the boys dyed their faces and hands and played Indian.

SPINSTER SISTERS KILLED BY GAS

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 18 (AP).—Death, stealing upon them from a world they had shut out for 30 years, has struck down the Misses Emma and Amelia Richardson, spinster sisters for whom time stopped at the year 1902.

In an old house which they had made a hermitage of Victorianism in a bewildering world of modernity, the sisters, 76 and 73 years old, were found dead yesterday, clad in the bustles and ruffles of a vanished day. Today authorities decided that it was gas, one of the few conveniences in that quaint house, that caused their death. A partly opened burner on the kitchen range and the positions of the frail bodies told the story.

Prof. Moley Will Go With Roosevelt

To White House Conference on War Debts and Other Matters as President-elect's Only Adviser.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—His plans complete for visiting President Hoover at Washington next Tuesday, Franklin D. Roosevelt has summoned to the Executive Mansion Raymond Moley, the Columbia University professor, who will go to the White House conference on war debts and other matters as Mr. Roosevelt's only adviser.

Prof. Moley arrived in Albany late last night, several hours after he had been named by the President-elect as his counsellor for the meeting with the President.

He went direct to the Executive Mansion, where he planned to see Mr. Roosevelt today.

Between now and 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when the President-elect will meet Mr. Hoover for an informal conference on "the whole situation," close associates of the governor believe he and Prof. Moley will go over thoroughly the matters they expect to come up at the meeting.

Mr. Roosevelt's choice of Moley, Columbia University's self-proclaimed Professor of Public Law, was announced shortly after the telephone call yesterday, in which the President-elect informed President Hoover that he was nearly ready to start south for his visit to Washington and a two weeks' vacation in Georgia.

Since Roosevelt was elected governor in 1928, Professor Moley has been one of his frequent advisers, and during the presidential campaign he was often at the candidate's side.

Two Conferences At White House

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP).—A medley of official talk and conferences today encompassed the pressing issues of war debts and a balanced budget, subjects of two momentous White House conferences next week.

At the first, President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt will discuss informally on Tuesday afternoon these and other matters of vital national interest. An adviser, Secretary Mills in the President's case, will attend each.

The second, scheduled for the next morning, will give the President an opportunity to survey the foreign debt problem with congressional directors of financial legislation. This party will include the three ranking Democratic and Republican members of the House ways and means committee and the Senate finance committee.

These plans were announced by the White House yesterday after a telephone conversation between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt, and during a series of conferences on budget matters between the President and such aides as Secretary Hurley, Postmaster General Brown and J. Clawson Rood, director of the budget.

FORMER SUPREME COURT JUSTICE POOLEY DEAD

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—Former Supreme Court Justice Charles A. Pooley, 78, died at his home here today.

He had been ill ten days. Justice Pooley retired when he reached the age limit for justices in 1925. Since then he had acted as an official referee in many cases.

He was nominated by the Democrats for a supreme court post in 1910 and was elected. He was a trustee of the Law Library of the Eighth Judicial District and was prominent in Masonic circles in western New York.

AMY JOHNSON LANDS IN CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Nov. 18 (AP).—Amy Johnson, flying alone from England, landed here at 1:30 p. m. Greenwich time (8:30 a. m. E. S. T.) today, clipping nearly 11 hours off the speed record held by her husband, J. A. Mothson.

Last March Captain Mothson made the trip in 4 days 15 hours and 15 minutes. His wife's time was 4 days, 6 hours and 55 minutes, or ten hours and 24 minutes faster than his.

More Criminal Cases Disposed Of In County Court

Mary Gould Sentenced to Bedford Mills—Manson Case Off Until Monday—John Heiser Sentenced to Elmira.

At a short session of county court Wednesday afternoon several more criminal cases were disposed of.

Mary Gould, who was sentenced to Auburn prison, was again in court, and the sentence to Auburn was revoked and Judge Traver imposed the same sentence, 2½ to 5 years in prison, but sentenced her to Bedford Hills prison.

A. J. Cook appeared in court and stated that he could not further represent Richard Henson, charged with arson. He said the defendant protested his innocence and in order to prepare for trial much time would have to be devoted to the case. He had made previous engagements before he was called in the Henson case and he did not have the time to make a proper preparation of the case in order to go to trial at this time. He suggested that since Henson had been in jail a long time it should be one of the cases disposed of at this time and he requested to be permitted to withdraw in order that Henson might secure counsel who could devote the time to the case and have it disposed of at this time. Judge Traver instructed Henson to secure counsel and if he could not the court would assign counsel. The case went over until 2 o'clock Monday.

Heiser Sentenced
N. LeVan Haver appeared and made a plea for lenience in the matter of The People vs. John Heiser, charged with attempting to extort money from a local merchant and with writing notes threatening to kidnap the man's children if the money was not paid. Judge Traver stated that the case was one which had caused him much concern. He had had the defendant examined not once but three times in order to be sure that he was mentally responsible for the crime. Every examination had shown that Heiser was mentally responsible and Judge Traver said he had looked up Heiser's past record to see if that warranted a suspension of sentence but he had found that it did not. He said he had been troubled in the matter and would rather have had another judge deal with the matter but it was one of the unpleasant things which he faced as county judge and he sentenced Heiser to Elmira until discharged by law.

District Attorney Murray stated that it was an unpleasant thing for him to do but he felt that this was a case in which he must urge that the court impose a sentence. At the time of the crime the world was laboring under a great strain, it was at the time of the Lindbergh kidnapping case. Parents were laboring under great mental stress and Heiser had threatened to kidnap the children of the local merchant if money was not produced. He said the crime had been a cowardly one. Judge Traver stated that the crime had been cowardly and "outrageous" and he felt that the defendant was mentally responsible for his acts, he suggested that the defendant might not be entirely to blame, perhaps he had not been properly restrained during his youth at home. The reformatory sentence was then imposed.

Clarence Irwin, charged with burglary, third degree, entered a plea of guilty through his counsel, Philip Slutsky, and was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory.

Court recessed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

WRONG KIND OF TEA RESULTS IN DEATH

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—As the result of an argument, which started when Mrs. Margaret Allen failed to provide her husband with his favorite brand of tea, Derwood Allen, 64, is dead today and his foster son, Fred Anderson, 20, is charged with manslaughter, first degree.

Allen, a retired army sergeant, died in a local hospital last night of a skull fracture caused by blows from a gun butt which young Anderson admitted wielding in a scuffle at the Allen home in Fairport earlier in the evening.

According to Anderson's story, which District Attorney Ray F. Fowler said was corroborated by his foster mother and his sister, Ruth, the youth struck the fatal blow in an endeavor to protect Mrs. Allen, a frail little woman in ill health, who was being abused by her husband because she had not provided his favorite brand of tea.

WATERWAY TREATY MAY NOT GET ATTENTION NOW

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP).—Serious doubts have arisen in the minds of supporters of the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty over the prospects for its consideration at the forthcoming session of Congress in view of the opposition it has drawn.

Although they still are talking hopefully, friends of the agreement signed by the United States and Canada last July realize that it is difficult to obtain consideration for a controversial subject in a short session of Congress, due to the pressure of routine legislation.

If the treaty should fail to reach a vote at the coming session, its future fate would depend largely on the attitude of President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Emergency Relief Bureau Asks $100,000 From State

At Request of Mayor Eugene B. Carey, the Temporary Emergency Relief Bureau Adopted Resolution Asking State for $100,000 to Relieve Acute Unemployment Situation in Kingston—Would Come from $30,000,000 Bond Issue.

An appeal to members of the Local Temporary Emergency Relief Bureau by Mayor Eugene B. Carey, asking that group to request $100,000 from the state administration to meet the acute needs of the city during the coming months, resulted in a resolution requesting that amount from the state. These funds are expected to come from the recently passed $30,000,000 bond issue, which was voted to provide funds for such emergencies.

Winter's Chill Is Felt in Air Here

Drinking Fountain in City Hall Grounds Decorated With Six Inch Icicles, and Police Are Wearing Their Winter Overcoats.

Old Man Winter was in Kingston Thursday night and left his calling cards in the form of six inch icicles decorating the edge of the drinking fountain on the city hall grounds, while pools of water were covered over with ice when residents arose early this morning.

The cold weather has led the patrolmen on street duty to don their winter overcoats and with the chill of winter in the air the overcoats do not feel amiss.

With Thanksgiving Day to be celebrated next Thursday residents need not look for warmer weather, and those who have overcoats would do well to get them out and dusted off for cold weather comfort.

The night passed uneventfully in Kingston with no arrests made by the police and no cases in police court this morning.

Chaperons Selected For Senior Dance

The Senior Dance Committee has selected the chaperons for the Senior Dance which will be held on Thanksgiving evening in the gym of Kingston High School. From all indications a large number is expected.

The chaperons are: Principal and Mrs. Clarence Dumm, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Culver, Miss Laura Bailey and Watson Bailey.

The Senior Dance will climax a day of events. In the afternoon at Newburgh, Kingston High plays the Academy in the annual football game of the year, which is the last for both squads. The Senior prom will bring to a close the activities of the day.

Many graduates now attending college will attend the affair as well as the students of the high school. It is thought that one of the largest crowds ever to attend a Senior Dance will turn out.

Lloyd George Writes His Memoirs; Gives Spare Hours To Model Farm

London (AP)—David Lloyd George has something on his mind these days besides his work in the House of Commons.

By the end of the year he hopes to complete the first volume of his memoirs, which are expected to run to three volumes. The first will bring the record to the end of 1916.

This authorship has become perhaps the major interest of the present-day life of Britain's war-time premier. But it will be some time before he gets to the point of relating his story of the days of Versailles when he, Woodrow Wilson, Clemenceau of France and Orlando of Italy formed the "big four" of the peace conference.

Another interest, pursued chiefly as a recreational hobby, is "Bron-y-de", his estate near Churt, Surrey. The place is run as a sort of model farm, with experiments in the latest methods of making England's soil yield food for the home market.

One of the tests this year was on fertilizing potato fields. The result was a fine yield of big, round "spuds" whose soundness and size delighted the veteran statesman.

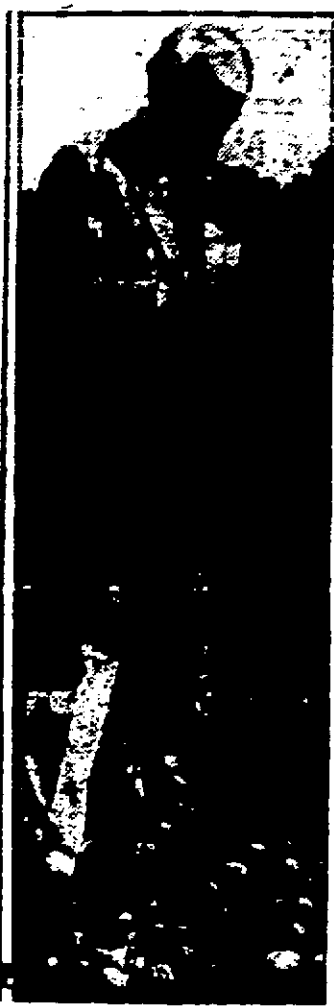

He took pains to tell other farmers all about it, for addressing meetings of agriculturists is one of his diversions and he seldom misses a gathering in the Churt neighborhood.

With the fallow season at hand, however, he puts in long hours at his writing. He does much of this work in bed, frequently waking at 5:30 o'clock so as to get a good start on the day's output. On this schedule he has completed more than 120,000 words of his first volume.

While the daily output is restricted in a measure by the time he has available and the ease or difficulty of the particular subject, he has been able on occasion to turn out 4,000 words in a single day.

His method has been to provide a "frame" for the work by writing the first and last chapters—and then to fill in the intervening material.

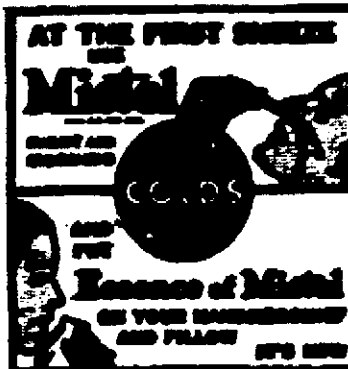

The work is expected to be especially inclusive since the author is David Lloyd George, veteran British statesman, is writing his memoirs of world-war days but finds time to run down to his farm near Churt, Surrey, and inspect an experimental potato crop.

the only European minister who was in office during the whole period of the war.

A good portion of his time is spent in the inspection of documents, of which he has a great number. He has employed a small band of assistants to go over and arrange these papers.

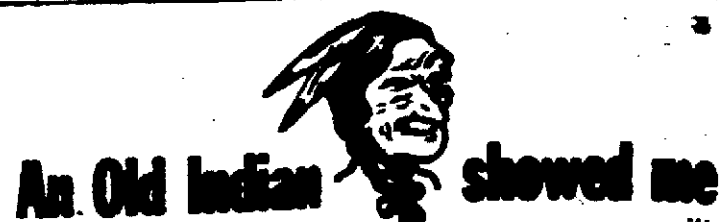

AT THE FIRST SMOKE Mintal

KEPELIN TERMINAL IN 1930
PLANNED BY DR. ECKENER

Rio De Janeiro (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, hopes to make Rio de Janeiro the terminus of regular dirigible service between Germany and South America, he announced here.

Negotiations for formation of a subsidiary company to build hangars and a mooring mast are under way. Pernambuco, a thousand miles north of Rio, is the present terminus for most voyages of the Graf, but Eckener prefers Rio because it offers direct airplane transportation to Buenos Aires, and communication with Chile and Peru by way of Bolivia.

An Old Indian showed me

Actually, it's so simple you'd think the Indians would have thought it up long ago—this idea that chewing makes a good, invigorating, more dependable, more natural system. It is this common-sense principle that makes Feen-a-mint such an ideal laxative. You have to chew it, because it's a chewing gum. And the chewing gum the Indians chewed was distributed throughout the system. No pills, no harsh, thorough, gentle, safe and non-habit-forming. Economical, too! At all drug-gists.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES • BY JEAN NEWTON

WHY WOMEN CAN FORGET
THE UNPLEASANT

WOMEN have to a far greater degree than men the gift of remembering more of the pleasant experiences of life than the unpleasant. So we are told by a psychologist from Washington University in St. Louis. Women, he said, can simply forget. Men have to have a definite medium for pushing out of their minds the unpleasant thoughts—like alcohol—or other interests.

The discovery of this faculty of women to forget what it is unpleasant to remember has traveled after from St. Louis, and caused astonishment the land over.

Everybody is astonished—except the women themselves! To them it seems only natural. For haven't they had enough practice?

Down through the centuries haven't women had the alternative of forgetting—or going mad? When something unpleasant happened at home the lord and master of the household could shake it off with the threads of his overcoat as he hurried to his suburban station and caught the night-thirty-five for the city.

From that moment on new vistas, new faces, new thoughts and problems filled his day. Work or play, it was something new or at least different and therefore refreshing to the soul! It served as ventilation for the worried areas of his mind.

But the woman? For her there was no automatic or gratuitous process. There she was—stuck all day with her unpleasant problem or in the environment of the unpleasant happenings, whatever it was. Wherever she turned or looked, there were reminders of it—there was no change of scene and interest to chase them away, to ventilate the worried areas of her mind.

So she had to learn to forget, arbitrarily, of her own volition, to force thoughts to go from her. To retain her sanity she had to weaken her memory—about unpleasant things. And, according to the psychologist, the exercise has become, as all good little exercises should, "second nature."

Mother's Dream

By DOUGLAS HALLGREN

MOTHER does not dream of fame. So much, how great, how far. Mother thinks about your name. Let only what you are. She would rather have you known For kindness to a few. Than to have you on a throne. And have men hating you.

Mother does not dream of gold. So much, if great or small. She would rather have you hold Your honor first of all. She would rather have you poor Than have you rich in sin. All the wealth that will endure Is the wealth within.

Mother does not dream of place. So much, of social ends. Gentle women, men of grace. She would have your friends. She would rather have you one All you meet esteem. Just a good and loving son— That is Mother's dream.

England Saves Huge Sums by Debt Revisions

By OSCAR LEIDING

London (AP)—Great Britain, in five big steps stretching over eight months, has escaped from some financial bog.

At the same time, it is regarded in financial circles, she has established a leadership in easing the position of the debtor that may have world wide effect.

The five big steps involved the conversion of approximately $5,750,000,000 of internal debt—more than one-third of the nation's total domestic debt—into securities carrying lower rates of interest.

Cuts Treasury Loan

Their effect, so far as the treasury is concerned, has been estimated by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, to mean a gross saving in a full year of $125,000,000.

The latest of these steps was accomplished early in November when the treasury announced an issue of $950,000,000 of three per cent conversion loan payable at par on March 1, 1953 or, on three months notice, any time after March 1, 1948.

Previously, on October 11, 1952, $600,000,000 in two per cent treasury bonds were issued at par and those two together will provide funds to deal with maturities December 1 and February 1.

The result is that the treasury has made a clean slate for more than a year of all maturities. These maturing bonds, moreover, have been drawing 4.5 and 5 per cent interest.

The conversion campaign started in the middle of March when holders of $400,000,000 of 4 1/2 per cent treasury bonds maturing in the next month were invited to exchange their holding into either 4 1/2 per cent conversion loan or 4 per cent consolidated loan.

Negative Votes Bring Cash

A second step was taken at the end of April by the tender of 3 per cent treasury bonds, of which $250,000,000 were sold.

The third operation was the great war loan conversion, a 5 per cent loan for $7,297,500,000 for which conversion was offered in the form of a 3 1/2 per cent loan. There was non-assent to the amount of $577,500,000, the holders of which will receive their cash December 1.

Besides the benefits to the exchequer, the effect of the conversion operations as seen in financial circles has been to enable other countries, particularly the dominions, to convert relatively dear loans into cheaper ones. A gain in the money way for municipalities is also obvious, to industry, and capital has been, or may be, renewed on better terms and fresh capital may be raised more cheaply.

The effect, it is seen, is to bring downward adjustments which will have a general lightening effect on the burden of the debtor.

Have Increasing Effect

British analysts of the conversion operations, while conceding them to be a triumph for British finance, point out that they may effect more economies as they lead to a ruling tion in tax receipts. The actual savings to the exchequer have not been estimated. It is understood that the $125,000,000 gross saving will not be a net saving, since the state will no longer receive income tax and surtax from that sum.

Cloud Visibility

The distance at which clouds are visible to the naked eye varies greatly with one's position and the kind of clouds. If one is in an open flat country, and the clouds are of the broad stratus or layer type, he may not see them more than 30 to 40 miles away, and even not half so far if the air is hazy or misty or rainy. On the other hand, when the air is quite clear a well developed cumulo-nimbus, or thunderstorm, cloud may, under favorable circumstances, be seen when more than 100 miles away.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.

When more and better taxes are levied, you can depend upon the average legislator to do it.

Wife—I had to marry you to find out how stupid you are.
Husband—You ought to have known that when I asked you.

An old lady approached a ship's officer on a dirty night.
Old Lady (meaning)—Oh, I feel dreadfully ill. What do you think I should do?
Callous Sailor—Don't let that worry you, you'll do it.

Rebounds... There are three ways of getting out of a scrape: push out, back out, keep out. With the passing of the old corset came the elimination of girls control. One of the greatest pleasures in life is doing what other people say you cannot do. Records are broken by men who are so hard pushed that they have to break a record in order to win. When one sees a girl who is the picture of health he may suspect that she painted the picture herself. Men sue for twice what they expect and happily pocket half of the later amount. No matter how wise men may become, he never knows what a cow or a woman is going to do the highways. Another objection to the low price of eggs is that it encourages the manufacture of egg sandwiches. Nothing warms a girl's heart as quickly as promising to go through fire for her. No matter how angry you get, a pretty girl is as hard to ignore as the carache. Girls will never admit middle age until their chins become plural. Many a girl who thought she married a big gun discovered that she married a cap pistol.

A Song For Sally.

Of happy days we hold a score,
And time may bring us twenty more;
But, let the years bring what they may.

We have today,
And with today, fast held and sweet,
We challenge all that fate shall mete;
Our hearts are light.

In these perilous times, the girl who will make the best wife is the one who has a good disposition. Plus a good position.

Joe—Pretty dull magazines you're getting out. You'll never interest the public in them.

Bill—Who cares? They are for doctors and dentists to place on the tables in their waiting rooms.

A well-known local man, figures that the little boy who said, "the earth goes round on its taxes," wasn't far wrong.

Gerald—When I proposed to Gretchen she asked me if I was a recruit.

Donald—What did she mean?
Gerald—She wanted to know if I had ever participated in an engagement before.

A man's nerves appeared to be worn to a frazzle. He consulted a physician.

Doctor—The thing for you to do is to stop thinking about yourself—just bury yourself in your work.

Patient—Gosh, and me a cement mixer.

One may be willing to excuse ignorance, to pity it, to bear with it, patiently, but not to accept it as a fundamental virtue.

Women often ask if marriage will prove enduring—looks like a lot of them have already found it more than they could endure.

Little Peter—Pa, what becomes of a football player when his eyesight begins to fail?

Daddy—They make a referee out of him.

Hard luck is no respecter of persons. If you haven't already had yours, don't be impatient. It will get around to you by and by.

No More Piles

Now to End Terrible Agony Without Surgery or Cutting

Thousands of men suffering do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why surgery and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—no internal medicine should be used. HEN-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Low-land, removes because it cleanses the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEN-ROID has such a wonderful record of success in curing the most stubborn cases that Mr. Bridgman of New York and all good doctors advise patients to get a bottle of HEN-ROID Tablets today. They will end your Pile agony or money back.

Old Cloth Donation

With the introduction of transfer printed or padded chins from the works at Battersea, Worcester and Liverpool, copper plates were used in decorating cotton cloth and advertisements came out with "printed and padded furniture cloth." Benjamin Franklin included some of the new cotton with the china he sent to his wife in 1726, saying: "There are also fifty yards of cotton, printed entirely from copper plates, a new invention to make bed and window curtains; and seven yards of their cottons printed in the same way, very neat."

The delights of thought, of truth, of work, and of well-being will not descend upon us like the dew of the dawn, without effort of our own. Labor, watchfulness, perseverance, self-denial, fortitude, are the elements out of which this kind of joy is formed.—A. C. Jones.

Mental Hygiene Topic Before Kiwanians

Dr. Frederick L. Paury, head of the department of psychiatry of the state department of education, was the guest speaker Thursday noon at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel, his subject being "Mental Hygiene and Education."

Clarence Rowland, chairman of the share-the-work movement, appealed to Kiwanians who were employers to cooperate in this movement to lessen the number of unemployed, following the luncheon.

The following guests were present for the meeting, among them being members of the Kingston school system: B. C. Van Ingen, John H. Garrison, Frank L. Meagher, P. H. Cullen, H. F. Dunbar, Clarence Dunn, R. H. Van Valkenburgh, A. H. Russell, A. B. Wills of New York city,
William J. Morrissey of Stillwater, Raymond Smith of Mt. Vernon, and Joseph J. Morgan, president of the Kingston Rotary Club.

Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker as a Canadian by birth, who had studied in Canadian universities and later in the United States, and who was the first state psychiatrist in the United States.

Dr. Paury opened his remarks by saying that the aims and objects of his department were to promote the health, happiness, efficiency and adaptability of students in the state school system. His, he explained, was a new type of work, which was unusual, but wherever he had approached teachers he had found the greatest cooperation. It was his opinion that by sharing experiences with others the greatest good could be accomplished.

The speaker contended that the school existed for the child, but that to promote the greatest good for the child it was necessary to tackle the mental hygiene problem from two angles, make understanding teachers instructed in the art, and the development of the child by the teachers and a specialist in the work.

Dr. Paury explained that it was necessary to get the best teachers available, saying that at present 10 per cent of the teachers were not adapted to that profession. He also stressed the point that the type of teachers needed were those who intended to make that profession a life work, and not the type who were using the profession as a stepping stone to some other profession.

The speaker then quoted statistics showing the percentages of backward, normal and bright students in the school system. He explained that at the White House Conference it was found that about one-third of the pupils in school were "behavior" cases.

In pointing out the necessity of the education of a child's emotions Dr.
Paury asked the question—Do children live by habits or by thinking for themselves? It was his contention that the method in which children function in the "present" was due to previous happenings. The child, he said, must be studied as a social unit.

In correcting the child, he explained, it was necessary to consider

DEATH TRAIL OF KIN'S GOLD DARED BY THIRD BROTHER

Townsville, Queensland (AP).—
Charles Schultz is leading an expedition from here in a search for gold which his two brothers found—one after the other—only to die before they could bring back the treasure.

Albert Schultz discovered a rich gold deposit near the South Australian border in 1925. On his way home he died after entrusting his story to a half-caste who brought the news to William Schultz.

William went to the spot, which is reported to be near Tassam, in Central Australia. He, too, found the gold, but was killed by a fall from his horse.

Now Charles hopes to secure the wealth. The aborigines in that region are stated to be unfriendly so the expedition will travel in armored trucks.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 18 (AP)—The stock market took on a little business completion today, but was still extremely sluggish.

The decline of the past two sessions was checked, and prices settled up a point or two, but trading was in small volume, with floor traders apparently contributing much of the activity.

Issues rising about 1 to 2 points included American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, American Tobacco B. Santa Fe, Case, Coca Cola, Consolidated Gas, Corn Products, Dupont, Eastman, International Harvester, Johnson & Johnson, Lowry, McKeesport, National Biscuit, New York Central, Public Service of N. J., Sears, Roebuck & Co., Union Carbide, Union Pacific, United Aircraft, and U. S. Steel.

Short covering appeared to provide much of the upward impetus, but the weekly mercantile reviews were moderately optimistic. Dun's reported that retail trade had expanded further, helped by cold weather, and that industrial operations were most of the autumn improvement. Bradstreet's stressed the post-election stiffening of commodity prices as particularly hopeful.

Nevertheless, brokerage opinion remained decidedly mixed. The weekly report of freight car loadings, to appear tomorrow, was expected to show a further seasonal decline, following the usual trend in November and December.

Hesitancy in the securities markets was described as reflecting in part the uncertain status of the war debt payments, due December 15, together with possible reactions upon sterling exchange. Furthermore, the approach of the December session of the old Congress, with the possibility that further taxes may be sought to bring the Federal budget into actual balance, was also regarded as an influence toward uncertainty.

POULTRY

KEEP DISEASE OUT OF POULTRY FLOCK

Infection Can Be Spread in Many Ways

If your neighbor gives you a chilly reception when you tramp late his chicken pen, do not feel offended. He merely is following one of the first rules of poultry sanitation.

An all too common method of spreading infectious diseases in poultry flocks is by visitors to the flock who may have come from other flocks where diseases are present, declares Dr. Charles Murray, chief of the veterinary investigation section at Iowa State college.

Doctor Murray's advice is as follows: "Never discuss your neighbor's disease situation with him in your own or his poultry pen."

"Never permit a buyer of poultry, a peddler of remedies, or a culler to visit your poultry houses or yards unless he disinfects his shoes or slips on a pair of overshoes you have for him."

"Keep newly purchased stock or that which has returned from shows, fairs, or egg-laying contests in quarantine several weeks before placing it in the home flock."—Hoard's Dairyman.

Maintenance of Proper Body Weight Important

According to the agricultural extension service, University of Missouri, pullets frequently lose weight after two or three months of heavy egg production and if prompt attention is not given, they are likely to cease laying and molt. If taken in time, this condition can usually be corrected without serious loss in egg production by giving a supplementary feed of moistened fattening mash some time during the day, preferably at noon, until the pullets have regained the weight lost because of rapid laying.

The following mixture fed daily at the rate of three to five pounds for 100 pullets will usually produce the desired result:

Fattening Mash—six pounds corn meal, three pounds shorts and one pound dried milk.

The daily feed of this mixture should be moistened with enough water to form a crumbly mash and fed in the mash feeders or long troughs so that each pullet can get her share. If skim milk is available, it should be used to moisten the mixture and the dried milk may be omitted.—Missouri Farmer.

English Egg-Laying Contest

The national egg-laying contest at Milford, Surrey, England, is said to be the world's largest egg-laying competition, with 2,311 pullets of various breeds competing. The eighth month has just been concluded. In that period 405,914 eggs have been laid, an average of 127.4 per bird. A pen of 12 Black Leghorns at present in highest, with 1,528 eggs to their credit, an average of 127.4 eggs per bird in the eighth month of the "trial," as they are designated in England. A Single Comb Rhode Island Red pullet laid the individual bird record of special and first-grade eggs with a total of 213 of such grading. Another Red pullet has the best record over all birds with 218, 80 of which, however, were below the required two ounces in weight.

Timely Poultry Hints

Mangel beets do not rank as high as poultry feed as in the past. Some poultry men believe that the feeding of mangels injures the hatchability of the eggs. Possibly the reason that fill up on succulent mangels do not have room for the green feed which contains the vitamins that improve hatchability. We find that alfalfa is about the finest green feed for hens and believe that every poultry man should plan on raising or buying a few loads each year for winter storage for the poultry. Carrots seem to be a more useful succulent feed than mangels and a lot of carrots can be raised in a small space in the garden.

Winter Laying

To insure winter laying, on which so much depends, early-hatched pullets are important. Chickens raised in the early spring with ordinary attention develop into sturdy robust stock and mature satisfactorily for autumn production. White Wyandottes, Buff Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds are breeds that have established fine reputations as winter layers. Being of the middle-weight class, they are also able to produce fine, plump birds for the table.

Breeding Hints

Males should be placed in the breeding pen so as to give them plenty of time to accustom themselves to new surroundings and will also allow about 60 days for the birds to be mated and in production before eggs are saved for hatching purposes. Too much time cannot be spent in selecting these breeding males. Before turning them in to the breeding pen be sure that they are vigorous birds with proven performance, and conform to the standard of the breed.

The Collector

You know Robinson? Well, he owed me $10 and I could never get it back. So when I heard he'd started a debt-collecting business I wrote and asked him to collect my debt of $10. He wrote back and said that all his efforts had failed, and charged me $5 expense.—Herald.

BRITISH PARTY TO FLY OVER EVEREST

Expedition Will Film Talk-out Point on Globe.

London.—With the Marquess of Douglas and Clydesdale, M. P. as chief pilot of the expedition, and Lady Houston providing the financial backing, British flying men are planning to make an attempt on Mt. Everest within the next few months.

The highest point on the globe, 29,000 feet above sea level, the giant of the Himalayas has defied many gallant Alpine expeditions, most of them retiring while still several thousands of feet from the summit.

It would appear that the task before the flyers is fairly easy. The world altitude record, established in September by the British flyer Cyril Uwins, is 29,776 feet—nearly three miles above the summit of the mountain.

Everest, however, lies remote in the heart of a mighty range of peaks, in a region where a forced landing would mean destruction and where winds of hurricane force prevail.

Face Tremendous Storms

The head of the mountain is the seat of tremendous storms; and vast masses of frozen cloud shroud the summit for many months of the year. The men who take off from a flying field in northern Bengal, at the foot of the great range, will know that they are beginning one of the most perilous adventures in the history of aviation.

The British air ministry and the India office are supporting the expedition, and the Maharaja of Nepal, within whose territory the mountain stands, has given permission for the flight over the summit.

A period of intensive training and flying trials will precede embarkation for India. Every member of the expedition must be physically fit to withstand the strain of flying above the mountains. Airplanes and engines must be tuned perfectly for the task; for mechanical failure will mean disaster.

Negotiations are being made to secure the high-flying Vickers Vespa plane with Bristol Pegasus motor, which Cyril Uwins used to set the new altitude record, and another craft of similar power.

It is probable that two machines will ascend together, one to make the flight over the summit, the other to photograph the attempt, since an obvious difficulty is the problem of securing adequate evidence that the peak is actually seen over.

To Wear Heated Clothing. Both machines will carry cameras and it is hoped that the record thus obtained will place the success of the venture beyond doubt. The flyers will wear specially heated clothing and will use oxygen apparatus.

At the time of the preliminary trials, or perhaps preceding them, Mr. Uwins may attempt to reach an altitude greater than the present record. He is confident that his plane is capable of another 2,000 feet.

In a speech to his constituents, when he was asking for leave of absence from his parliamentary duties during the period of the expedition, Lord Clydesdale explained that the chief object which he and his friends have at heart is to promote British world prestige—particularly in India.

He added that the flight over Mt. Everest is the "only one original flight really worth while"; every other significant part of the world having been flown over. He briefly sketched the danger of the attempt; the great peril being that fifty miles of the flight takes the airplanes over "impossible" country. He explained, however, that he had given that aspect every consideration and had "no wish to subject this constituency again to the expense and trouble of a by-election."

Michigan Is an Indian Name, Expert Declares

Harbor Springs, Mich.—A new theory that the name of the state of Michigan is of Ottawa Indian derivation has been advanced by John C. Wright, author of Indian stories. The state's name is derived from the old Ottawa word, "Michigaming," Wright claims, which means "old clearings." These clearings referred to the garden plots and orchards of the Ottawa Indians located between Harbor Springs and Cross Village. These clearings were landmarks along Lake Michigan, since many of them were located on bluffs overlooking the lake.

Wright, who is fifty-eight, is of Indian descent, advocates the restoration of Indian landmarks of this region, and the establishment of an Indian museum to preserve the Indian lore.

Son of Siam Diplomat Works on American Farm

Boston, N. H.—Prince Devraj, son of the Siam minister of Siam, is spending his vacation from an exclusive New England preparatory school working on a farm here. The prince is helping potatoes, milking cows, and feeding chickens, in order to acquire a practical knowledge of American farming methods in his homeland when he returns.

Some Watermelon Hope

Hope, Ark.—A new heavyweight champion of the watermelon ranks has made his appearance here. A 100-pounder, developed by Gordon Vines and C. E. McLean, topped the previous record of 100 1/2 pounds.

San Mateo Eggs

All turtles lay eggs, the shells of which are white and generally of a parchment-like character. They are deposited in the ground or in the sand, and hatch either by the warmth of decaying vegetation or by the heat of the sun.

SCIENCE TO TACKLE FLIGHT TO STARS

Overcoming Earth's Pull Problem to Be Solved.

London.—The new problems of inter-planetary flight is now being seriously studied in London. Professor Piccard's recent visit to the stratosphere and his eagerly awaited data has given impetus to the movement among the scientists and engineers in Great Britain.

The movement in England has the benefit of the advice of Professor Jean.

Across the channel the British society is awaiting the return of France's $2,000,000 rocket. This is not intended to be a mere projectile fired into the moon, but a vehicle to transport man there equipped with everything modern science can think of to secure the safety of the passenger and also the instruments to collect the invaluable data.

To Overcome Pull. The conception is staggering. According to a scientific writer in the "People":

"A projectile designed to travel into inter-stellar space has to rise above the earth's atmosphere envelope and to cancel the gravitational pull. This is one of the major problems confronting the rocket experts. To be shot free of the earth's pull, it must be discharged at the rate of speed of about seven miles per second; that is a hundred times the speed of an airplane. But if that speed is attained at the start of the discharge, the density of the atmosphere will turn the projectile into an incandescent mass.

"Briefly, a rocket designed for such is an engine composed of four parts. Firstly, the fuel compartments, then the combustion chamber, next the payload compartment (in which the inter-stellar traveler will pilot his craft), last the rocket shell.

The Fuel Problem. "The fuel problem is divided into two divisions—solid fuel such as gunpowder—and liquid fuel—a combination of hydrogen and liquid oxygen." "Today," states the writer in the "People," "the only basic problem that stands between earthbound man and the vast intoxicating dream of inter-stellar travel is power. "Mankind is now tackling that problem with all the skill and knowledge of the chemist, the astronomer, the Professor Piccard and all the aviation pioneers."

Many American Women Are Adrift in Paris

Paris.—The adventurous spirit which generally is associated only with the more daring of womanhood, such as Amelia Earhart, is rapidly developing a distinct class of feminine gentleman who leave America and travel about the world.

At present there are in Paris several hundred young American women who are living by their wits or existing on a small income from home. The greater part of them are American women between twenty and thirty years of age, mostly of the so-called "artistic type."

They may be seen nightly about the two principal rendezvous of Bohemians in Paris, the Dome and the Select brasseries in the Latin quarter. They will sit for hours at the table, eyeing all passersby, hoping to recognise an acquaintance or visitor from home.

Two-Purpose Beast

The alpaca, native of the table lands of Peru, is an important source of wool for the Peruvians and at the same time serves as a beast of burden. The wool when clipped every year, attains a length of about eight inches, although it will grow much longer if left uncut.

It appears to be related to the camels of the Old world, although the resemblance is not so pronounced as all the alpaca has been sheared.

Let Word Be Binding

Make good the word you have given your fellowmen. It is one thing to promise, and another thing to perform. Don't give your word too often or too easily, then you can always keep it. Remember, an acre of performance is worth a whole world of promises. —Grit.

One-Foot Forest Found

What is believed to be the most remarkable forest in the world has been found on the west coast of Africa. Although the trunks of the trees are as much as four feet in diameter, they attain the height of only one foot. No tree bears more than two leaves, which attain a length of six feet and breadth of two feet. The forest covers a tableland six miles in width.

A Squelcher

In his life of Herbert Asquith, J. Alfred Spender tells of a bore at Oxford, who ended a long and tedious speech at a debating society by saying: "I may not be an orator, but I am a good churchman." One of his hearers commented: "The last part of that remark is obvious, the second of limited interest."

Highest Mountain Peaks

Of the 35 named mountain peaks of the United States (exclusive of Alaska) which exceed 14,000 feet in height, Colorado had 42. There are probably at least five more peaks of this altitude in Colorado which remain unnamed.

Ancient Art Academy

The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, founded in 1862, is the oldest academy of its kind in the United States. It is the successor of a drawing school started in 1781 by Charles Wilson Peale.

Worth Remembering

A reader has asked us to pass on to readers the excellent verse which both from overseas: "Babe and the world smile with you; but you look alone. But the cheerful girl will let you in, where the teacher is never known."—London Times.

St. Mary's football team, out in Oakland, Calif., is going about as strong this season as usual—which is saying a lot. Led by Bill Beasley, captain, it giving its opponents plenty of distress.

Old Scottish Settlement

The first white settlement at Perth Amboy was made about 1609 at the site of an Indian village called Amboy. The settlers were from Scotland and they named the place Perth, in honor of James, earl of Perth. Soon after the Indian name "Amboy" was added. It was the capital of the province nearly all the time it was held as a colony of Great Britain.

Slaves First Before Wives

Slaves have more rights than wives or children in an independent African state of which Ofori Atta is paramount chief, according to recent revelations made by a student of Akan law. There a man's property must remain in his own clan. His wife can never become a member of his family or clan, so that neither she nor her children can inherit his property. If he chooses, however, the man can make his slave a member of his family and then can leave his property to the slave, although law forbids him to will it to his son.

Kingston: "Grand Hotel." The new famous talkie version of Vicki Baum's novel returns to the Kingston screen at popular prices. The story, a cross section of life as seen in a gigantic European hotel, offers drama, romance, comedy, excitement, and sorrow, all blended together in a skillful manner. The cast of the play brings together a group of Hollywood's aristocracy of stars. It includes John Barrymore, Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery and Jean Harlow. The sets in this production are lavish in their grandeur, and no expense was spared in the making of this movie masterpiece. This picture gives the theatre goer an opportunity of comparing the ability of various stars, as they all work together in this show. Worth seeing.

Orpheum: "Two Against the World" and "My Pal the King." Constance Bennett wears a lot of stunning gowns and looks beautiful in this modern story of the trials and troubles of a girl seeking happiness, along with Neil Hamilton and Allen Vincent. "My Pal the King" stars Tom Mix and his horse Tony in a picture that should appeal to young and old. It's a mythical kingdom plot, with the crown tottering on the head of the boy king who rules the country. Tom Mix and his cowboy troupe come along, and after plenty of excitement, the crown is saved for the youthful king against all kinds of odds.

Broadway: "Three on a Match." Here's appealing entertainment, with a fine cast headed by Warren William, and supported by Joan Blondell, Bette Davis, and Ann Dvorak. Its plot moves along in somewhat the manner of "Grand Hotel" in that it depicts the lives of various members of the cast, and blends them skillfully into the whole of the picture. In the story are three girls, schoolmates, who separate and meet again after many years. All have led different lives, and what happens when they are all together again, is novel screen drama. The show has many clever lines, some real laughs, and its share of tragedy. Something to see.

Ritz: "Man About Town." Warner Baxter and Karen Morley are together for the first time in this interesting story that gives promise of developing these two stars into a first-class film team.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: Same.

Broadway: "They Call It Sin." Pleasant entertainment with an exceptionally good cast in a story of a girl church organist who falls in love with a boy from the big city. When he leaves her small town, she follows him and finds that he is engaged to the daughter of his boss. There are numerous complications, some good comedy, and some very capable acting. The players include Lorena Young, David Manners, Una Merkle and George Brent.

Ritz: Double feature attraction.

Vegetables of Spiders

Spiders are cannibals. Members of some species often associate with members of other species, all living together without animosity, apparently, when there is sufficient food for all. Members of other species are intolerant of strangers. Some webs are suited to snare very small and delicate insects that breed in water close to the spiders' dwelling place. Not far from these webs may be seen stout webs that hold heavy insects. Some hunting spiders live in flowers and catch flying insects that sip the flowers' nectar. Other spiders live all their lives under stones, and feed almost exclusively on creatures that crawl. They shun moths and butterflies and other insects that flap their wings.

Unique Work of Art

The little Italian town of Pistoia can pride itself on the by no means insignificant contribution to the engineering eminence of the country, and may take some glory for adding the word "pistola" to the English dictionary, but its fine and notable ancient buildings are its chief glory, whether secular or ecclesiastical. In any other country town they would be naturally famous but in Italy where so many small towns are similarly glorious, they do not as greatly impress. The visitor should especially seek out the magnificent frieze of the Ospedale del Ceppo, executed by Giovanni della Robbia, representing the Seven Works of Mercy, for this work of art is unique.

Flash of Life

Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Re-Calm, Buckle In Buck

Lafayette, Ind.—The football news in Indiana today is that the old oak-on-buck is not missing. Stolen (?) and recovered twice before last year's Purdue-Indiana football game, the symbol of grid supremacy of the Hoosier State schools rests safely in the university vaults here, ready for Saturday's renewal of the battle for its possession.

Democrats Showed Under

Bluffton, Ind.—Wednesday's heavy snowfall has Democrats worried. Among nine Bluffton men who went to northern Michigan recently to hunt deer was Y. M. Simmons, in charge of the party's victory celebration. Now party workers here fear he won't get back and they'll have to postpone the jamboree.

Soap In Their Mouths

Detroit—Comedians on Detroit burlesque stages will have to use a scrubbing brush on some of their kags. Moreover, the license of one theatre will be held up until a police censor can sit through its shows without a blush.

That was the edict of Mayor Frank Murphy after a hearing. A little more clothing on some of the actresses wouldn't hurt, he added, but ruled that scant attire "is not the serious offense."

Look Out Below

Philadelphia—That was no dream William Maxwell had last night—that was a nightmare. Dreaming of falling, he awoke just in time to save himself from falling out of a bedroom window after crashing through the pane. Weak from loss of blood, he was treated at a hospital for severe cuts about the legs and arms.

Aw, Quit Your Kidding

Cincinnati, O.—It cost Henry Schluter $100 to prove he wasn't joking.

A passerby peered into Schluter's collar window and inquired, "Watcha doing?"

"Making whiskey," Schluter replied.

"You're kidding," retorted the inquisitive one.

"Think so?" asked Schluter.

"Look at my still."

The passerby entered the cellar and found things just as Schluter had described them.

A few hours later, Judge A. L. Eubanks fined Schluter $100. The passerby was detective Captain Patrick Hayes.

Might Be Worse

Milwaukee, Wis.—Here's a philosophical note from Stanley Elm, 22, a steepjack. He was in a hospital with a bruised right ear suffered in a fall.

"If I had slipped six hours before, you would have had a real job on your head," said Elm. "At that time I was working on the top of a 200-foot smelterstack."

Wonderful Bird Flight

The biennial flight of the chunky bob-o-link across 700 miles of the Caribbean sea is a remarkable performance. It is only matched, perhaps, by those of the larger plover and the tern. The first time 2,000 miles without a stop from Nova Scotia to South America, while the second commenced between the Arctic and Antarctic seas, making an estimated 22,000 miles a year.

Definition

Sometimes a "cynic" is a rather good-natured chap who pretends to be miserable, so that no one will expect a page of envy on his account.—Washington Star.

Dr. Smith held the committal service as the body was lowered to its final resting place.

Sahara Made Waste by Destruction of Forests

Everybody knows that trees, apart from their direct economic value, exert a beneficial influence affecting climate, agriculture, and even the very existence of man. This can be more clearly demonstrated in Africa where vast areas are drying up and becoming depopulated as the direct result of forest destruction. Recent scientific research has shown that the Sahara has not always been desert. Remains of trees have been found on the banks of vanished rivers and on the shores of dried-up lakes.

At the time of Mohammed it is estimated that about 1,000,000 Arabs invaded parts that are now desert. They cut the forests to make their farms, moving on to repeat the same process of destruction as soon as they had reaped their crops. They brought with them vast herds of goats. It is probable that each Arab possessed about 100 goats. Now, 100,000,000 goats following in the train of 1,000,000 nomadic farmers would not allow of much tree growth, for the goat is the bane not only of the forest.

Canadian-French Free From Taint of Patels

Beckles Wilson in his book on Quebec answers the question as to whether the French language spoken and taught in Canada is the same as that of France as follows: "Is it a patois, that is to say, a dialect which may be purely spoken according to its own rules? No; Canadian-French is French archaically spoken with a slight admixture of English terminology. Although it comes from Normandy and Brittany, it resembles in accent that spoken today in Chartres, Beauce and perhaps also Perche. Patois exists in no part of Canada, neither in the country nor in the cities. It is true, certain forms of speech are in use which a Parisian might not understand, but the Norman or Breton peasant would understand." When M. Viviani of France addressed the Canadian parliament at Ottawa, he complimented the descendants of the French settlers of Canada in having maintained, in all its purity and perfection, the French language which is heard throughout the whole world.

Rings About Sun and Moon

The weather bureau says that there are two kinds of rings about the sun and moon. Those that are close in—only one to four or five diameters of the moon, say, away—which we call coronae, are caused by water droplets. The smaller the droplets the larger the rings. The other rings, the true halos, occurring much further away, are caused by ice crystals. There are several such rings, but each one always has the same angular size. The size depends on the shape of the crystals (usually, but not always, a short six-sided column with flat ends perpendicular to the sides), the course of the light through the crystals and the amount of bending this light undergoes as it enters a face of the crystal at a given angle.

Dish Impostion of Sentence

Ernest B. Ahlberg, who entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry in county court Thursday, was before the court this morning and at that time imposition of sentence was postponed until January 9 at 2 o'clock. Ahlberg was paroled to Probation Officer Service. Court resumed work Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

PLAN TO PUT CURB ON OCEAN FLIGHTS

Officials Drafting Rules to Reduce Hazards.

Washington.—Publicity stunt trans-oceanic flying, which reached a new peak during the past five months, may be curtailed in the future.

The Commerce and State departments are working out regulations designed to reduce the risk of such flights and to eliminate foolishness from them as far as possible.

Since the first of May, 24 men, women and children have attempted to fly across the Atlantic ocean. Only seven succeeded. Five of the 17 who failed were lost at sea, and 10, including Col. George H. Hatt, were killed. Several others were injured.

There ought to be a preventive regulation calling for certain qualifications of plane, pilot, and equipment, in addition to the probability of completing the trip, according to Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, who drew up and now enforces the laws of the air. He is now planning such regulations.

Soon it may be necessary to obtain the Commerce department's sanction for a transatlantic flight, with the assistant secretary empowered to use a considerable latitude of discretion.

Young has every sympathy with the experienced pilot who wants to fly across an ocean or establish a new long-distance mark as a sporting venture. But he would like to debunk the flights that are made professedly "for the cause of aviation," but actually for publicity.

Two Babies Find Mixup in Their Relationship

Philadelphia.—Grandmother, mother, daughter, sister, aunt and niece are doing well, thank you, at Chestnut Hill hospital, where grandmother, mother and daughter-mother were watching affectionately over another sister and granddaughter-niece, respectively.

Mrs. Theodore Chatlos, twenty years old, Erdemian, Montgomery county, gave birth to a daughter at the hospital. Exactly a week later Mrs. Charles E. Radcliffe, Plymouth Meeting, gave birth to a daughter at the same hospital.

Mrs. Radcliffe is the mother of Mrs. Theo. Chatlos. Mrs. Radcliffe is the grandmother whose daughter and granddaughter are in the same hospital. Mrs. Radcliffe's new daughter has her older sister nearby. Mrs. Chatlos' daughter is the niece of Mrs. Radcliffe's daughter. They are all in the maternity ward of the same hospital.

Series of Civil Wars Raging All Over China

Shanghai.—Hundreds of thousands of soldiers are in the field in a series of civil wars and rebellions raging in virtually all sections of China, with an ever mounting death toll and increasingly grave fears for the future. The struggles are chiefly between native war lords, seeking to wrest power and territory from one another, and those there has been no serious threat to properties of foreigners in the strife-torn republic.

Entire villages are reported to have been burned, and refugees are pouring into the larger cities in the hope of finding safety and shelter. Farmers who had rejected over the first good crops in four years are experiencing miserable conditions, and it is feared that large stocks of linen and thread in the hands of country workers in the lace and embroidery trades have been confiscated and destroyed by soldiers and roving bandits.

Restaurant Owner Has Unique Lamp Collection

Racine, Wis.—A lamp from a Turkish harbor, another from a ship that blew up in Racine harbor and killed seven men, are included in the collection of Barney Richner, restaurant owner and former pugilist. Two large lamps, believed to be more than one hundred years old, are from this city's first harbor; another illustrated one of the first railroad stations in the state.

New Gold Rush

Johannesburg.—A new gold rush in the South African fields is developing after geologists announced discovery of thirty additional miles of the famous mine reef.

Employment Gaining in United States

Washington.—Further expansion in employment was reported by the United States employment service in its latest bulletin.

The textile industry, on the up-grade for six weeks, provided employment for "many hundreds" of additional workers, while mills producing rayon, woolen goods, silk products, hosiery and men's and women's clothing "stopped up production schedules," according to the report.

Operations in leather belt and shoe factories were characterized as "satisfactory," with forces increased in a few localities. Most shipyards kept large numbers engaged, while a number of businesses—coal mines—were reopened.

Delayed Burial Notice

The burial of an son named to burial at all. The expression is derived from Jeremiah 22:19, which says: "He shall be buried with the burial of the man, drawn and cast forth beyond the gates of Jerusalem."

A military leader with imperialistic ambitions is often referred to as "a man on horseback." The term was first applied in America to Theodore Roosevelt in a purely political sense.

ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN AND REAP THE REWARDS.

JUDGING from appearances, Dame Fashion does not know that there is such a thing as "depression" in the world of affairs these days or if she does she is not letting on, or perhaps she is an arbitrary dictator of the mode determined to cheer us up a bit by brightening the style picture with all its glams and glitter at her command.

At any rate the new fashions fairly radiate with the sparkle of sequins and beads and other pretty trinkets of gold and silver which dance before the eye with their glint of "silver sounds among the gold."

While, of course, these glamorous trifles are making their biggest showing at formal night affairs, let us say the daytime program is by no means without the glittering note. The new veils, likewise limited effects, so many of them enriched with interweavings of metal threads while the new hosiery weaves for the making of the new bloomers, are loomed in colorful patternings.

It is significant that this interest for metallic effects extends to the realm of accessories as well as to the field of dresses and wraps. Daytime costumes are calendered with quantities of metal buttons, cufflinks, clips, and gold, silver or bronze belts and fancy shoes, with millinery showing up tiny dots and ornaments in endless surprising ways. The advent of the drumy dinner hat and the favor for formal evening headwear stimulates the vogue for things glittering.

Stripes are the "last word" when it comes to metal cloths for formal evening wear. The handsome gown pictured is of gorgeous black and silver laces. This same idea of stripes is also interpreted in silver-worked taffeta such as blue silk with silver patternings.

For evening wraps designers are showing a keen interest in matelasse with metal such as white matelasse its delicate motif picked out with gold or silver.

Now that the social season is on, the most fetching little sequin embroidered capes and jackets are making their debut at theater, opera and the dance. The ravishing little cape which rests on the shoulders of the pretty debutante standing in the picture is composed of tiers of tiny flat ruffles which are worked solidly with steel gray sequins. The velvet gown has a cutwork design of huge flowers.

Another favored way of injecting glitter into the evening mode is that of sleeving the dress of velvet or satin, crepe or taffeta as the case may be with sequin-covered tissue or with georgette laced with metal patternings. Then, too, crepes shot with gold or silver threads which sometimes trace a delicate design are made up into the dress entire.

BRONZE IS LATEST STYLE IN COLORS

Bronze is one of the new colors for winter. Or, rather, it is a whole range of colors that begin with brownish-greens and go through a whole range of changes of greenish-brown, to appear in all types of clothes—suits, wraps, dresses, evening clothes, hats, bags and shoes.

Bronze kid shoes are shown in several fashionable dressmaking establishments as the correct evening slipper to go with dresses of all colors and types.

The bronze greens are practically the only greens that have any fashion importance in Paris this year. They are handsome colors—most of them soft, and becoming to women of most all types. They look especially well when combined with black, with gray, beige and other pastels.

"Essential Ensemble"

New Idea in Economy

A new "essential ensemble" designed to satisfy the demands of both economy and elegance is Paris' latest offering.

It takes its name from the practicality of its design, built as an all-around costume ready for any affair from breakfast to dinner.

Its fabrics are a score of new soft tones in the autumn shades of rust, mustard green, haze purple, olive and gray. Its lines are generally modeled after the design of the one-piece suit or the design accompanied by a hip-length jacket.

For both hat and shoes are approved in a new way as an integral part of the essential ensemble's design. Such attraction is applied in a hat in the bodice of one frock, and gray makes patch pockets on suit, and brown shawl lamb is used in variations on the shoulder line of frock.

Evening Gowns Are Now Made With Cape Effects

Cape effects mark many of the new evening gowns. One chic model is designed of rose colored velvet with a cape attached to the shoulder and draped around the arm to give a cape effect.

The costume is completed with velvet shoes and slippers to match.

STRIPED VELVET

By CHERRY NICHOLAS

Here is a dress good to look upon. It is just the sort every woman is sure to covet. It is made of one of those lovely new striped lustrous velvets which are so extremely smart this season. The combination is beige and brown. The designer realizes how effective stripes are when worked together cunningly. The belt is of antique skin set with steel nailheads. The swanky beret is of brown velvet.

New Browns

For the most part the new browns, which, by the way, will be very good this winter, are very dark. One dark brown is called "mink." A lighter shade is known as "fox."

Evening Wraps

Waistline and hip-length velvet evening jackets are extremely good for fall. White with dark fur or black with white fur are favorite combinations.

If You Are Trouseau Hunting

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

In three important New York theater openings recently, the immense in each case wore one gray costume, and the accessories all carried out the one-color scheme rather than the contrast idea.

Plaids are still very good in sweaters, not only in the pullover, but also in the cardigan.

Wide bracelets of polished metal or plastic materials that imitate colored crystal, are smart.

High Necks Go Dancing and Dining

New York—Glimpses of silver have begun to show in fashionable circles. While copper trimmings are new, silver is used in the body of the dress itself, and smartly used, as you will admit in looking at the sketch herewith.

If one elects to wear silver cloth or silver spangles, be sure your jewelry accessories are in harmony. They do not, of course, have to be silver, but they really must not be gold. Choose, instead, some of the colored stones that are being worn. Bright chromium costume jewelry is very chic, but belongs in the sports and tailored category. One may alternate gold and silver bracelets, or wear a necklace made of the two metals, but it is not often that bold jewelry can be worn with silver lace.

If you are one of the wise women who have provided yourself with a black velvet suit this winter, have a silver-cloth blouse. But it is not obligatory that you wear silver with either black or velvet. The point is, that it belongs with the formal fabrics. Which reminds me to list silver-lame among the materials possible for one of those fearless and very swanky evening coats which usually end somewhere near the knees.

Whether or not you like short sleeves, does not much matter. You certainly do not need to wear them unless you do. They are very chic and dressy-looking for those restaurant frocks with which one wears a little hat and a saucy little veil. But if you prefer your sleeves long, even in very formal dresses, there is no one to say you nay.

If you go dancing, remember that it's ultra chic to wind yourself up in a scarf or something of the sort, even a fur handkerchief sort of thing. Bare necks are not taboo, but it is the fad to bundle up to the chin, even though one's back may be bared to the wasteline, which is less often than formerly.

The shops can provide you with any number of neck fixtures—ruches and flat effects, scarfs and what-have-you effects. From among them choose the one that makes you look the prettiest.

Perez Madrid took him up and

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is Within the body, it absorbs mois-

Kellogg

When you're
Healthy, you're happy

THINK back over the last six months. The days that you were the happiest were days when health was at the peak. You can enjoy more smiling days. It's easier than you think.

Poor health is so often due to common constipation. Yet this condition can be banished from your life by simply eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory investigations have proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to encrease the intestinal, and vitamin B to further assist elimination. ALL-BRAN is also twice as rich in iron as an equal weight of beef liver.

"When you're healthy, you're happy"

"How you feel—and how well you look—depends largely upon the food you eat.
Be sure your diet is balanced—with sufficient 'bulk' to promote regularity."

DeMolay Parent Night on Monday

On Monday evening, November 21, the Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay will celebrate Parents' Night. Each year the local chapter recognizes this event and opens its doors to the parents, friends and alumni of DeMolay. Parents, especially, are extended a warm welcome for it is the union of mothers and fathers of DeMolay members that this meeting is definitely set aside as an annual affair.

One of the principal cardinal virtues of the order is the love and respect of parents and the responsibility of the individual to strive his utmost to become a better son and citizen so that he may repay the love and devotion that his parents have bestowed upon him.

A special program has been carefully arranged and the Rev. Goodrich Gates, D. D., of the First Presbyterian Church will deliver the address of the evening.

The entertainment committee has planned a lengthy program including several song numbers, comedy skits, orchestra selections and other novel features of enjoyment. A social hour will follow in which refreshments of every kind will be served. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the event and no admission will be charged.

Master Counsellor Harold W. Follette, assisted by the senior advisor "Dad" W. Frank Davis will preside over the entire proceedings.

Tennis Terms

The term "cease in tennis" was used as early as 1200, if not earlier. In 1873 Julius Marshall in his "Annals of Tennis" page 134, has the following: "Scalme (in 1335) then tells his readers that (the scoring is) 'at two (a doe)' as it is called when the game is reduced or 'set' to two strokes to be gained, in order to win it. The term 'a doe' is still preserved in the French form, a deux, corrupted into the English 'deuce'."

Old Problems To Get Fresh Airing
As Disarmament Parley Resumes

By P. I. LIPSEY, Jr.

Geneva (AP).—The world disarmament conference, through its general commission, soon will launch its second drive to rid the nations of the burden of armaments and the peoples of their burden of fears.

The commission will meet after a four months' recess and about ten months after the conference began, only to find the fundamental problems with which it has been battling still unsolved, despite negotiations between representatives of the principal governments.

Davis Seeks Harmony.

None has been more active and tireless in pursuit of a favorable outcome for the deliberations than Norman Davis, acting head of the American delegation. With Hugh Gibson, incapacitated, this Democratic representative of a Republican administration has been on the go for months.

His first visit to Washington to confer with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson. Then he came back to Europe and has gone from London to Paris to Rome to Geneva and back around again, seeking a basis for agreement.

The paramount issues of security—dear to the French—and equality—a shibboleth with the Germans—remain as the chief obstacles to an agreement for reductions of fighting forces.

Other Nations Anxious.

The French, however, are not the only people who are profoundly concerned with security. Within the year the question has acquired a vital meaning for a number of other states.

Poland and Rumania, for example, are frankly anxious about the intentions of their neighbors. Poland looks with uneasiness toward the Russian frontier and the German-enclosed corridor that gives the country access to the Baltic. Rumania thinks of soviet claims to Bessarabia and of aspirations by some of her other neighbors.

Security has become a major concern of Japan and China, and of several states in South America where troubles in recent months have threatened or actually brought on armed conflict.

But security is also a slogan of Germany and the other defeated powers, for their demand for equality is in reality a demand for "equality of security." The security and equality problems are thus seen

A Busy American Diplomat

Norman Davis is acting head of the United States delegation to the world disarmament conference whose "general commission" will assemble in Geneva November 21 and try again to find a formula for reducing national fighting forces. Mr. Davis has been going about Europe for months trying to harmonize the old world's conflicting theories.

from one angle to be, in effect, one. They hope that it would mean that European hopes for solution of the America would no longer hold to neutrality in the case of a state which launched an attack.

Every effort will be made by President Arthur Henderson and other conference leaders to get Germany back into the conference. While it is felt that perhaps some useful work may be done in Germany's absence, it is realized that without Berlin's participation no disarmament convention can be concluded nor can the peace of Europe be as country inclined to aggression, and

New Paltz Normal School Activities

Tea was served in the main art room.

The New Paltz Normal chapel program of November 15 was as follows: Hymn—"Send Out Thy Light", assembly. Bible Reading—Matthew 5:43-48, by Miss Florence Lane. Lord's Prayer. Announcements, Miss Lane. A skit by Miss Emily Z. Liebergeld, librarian of New Paltz Normal, and Miss Frances Fitzgerald, editor in connection with the November issue of the "Paltzonette." A group of violin solos by Miss Lucille Smith accompanied by Miss Phyllis Falk. "The Old Refrain", Kreisler: "The Voice in the Old Village Choir" and "My Wild Irish Rose". Miss Falk sang the obligato parts of the two latter selections. The Paltzonettes were distributed while the orchestra played "The North Wind" a march.

"Daddy-Long-Legs"

The legs of the harvest spider, commonly called "daddy-long-legs," contain over 50 joints each. They are thought to function as organs of sense as well as of locomotion.
